

Makayla Johnson

Tech Writing

July 5, 2022

Good Tuesday, my name is Makayla Johnson, and I am twenty-one years old. After graduating from Lisa Academy High school, I attended UAPTC where I got my associates degree in Art and Liberal Science. I walked the stage in May of 2022 and that was my first experience due to covid coming back around when I was in high school. I am a first-time mom with a six-month year-old son! My passion in life is ART! Since I was born, I would always do something dealing with art.! My creativeness always come from my inspiration of art. I love anime! I'm also a fan of Japanese culture. My favorite pattern is marble while my favorite color is gray!

I decided to attend UALR because it was always my go to after finishing up at UAPTC. I never really had a dream college to attend in Little Rock. I just wanted to go somewhere where they are understandable, and I understand their university to continue to go to college. I always told myself if I had a choice to where I could go to high school I would go somewhere where they help with college scholarships and things of that sort. I possibly would have got to attend my dream college which is in Chicago, IL.

I am taking this class due to it being one of my classes in my degree plan @UALR. My major is a B.A. in Web Design and Development while having a minor in Graphic Design. I haven't received any awards or honors. I am not a member of Student Government nor any student organizations. I don't participate in any of UALR athletic clubs either.

Now I work at a summer/afterschool program at my church interacting with kids K-5th grade. I help all around dealing with the different subjects that we teach and learn the kids. I currently work with the Art class where we express our creativity into art. I help K-1 with math, English, reading etc. If we aren't on a subject of learning, we have times where we have free time and have fun listening to music or even playing games with one another. If I'm not helping with the kids, I help at the front desk when its time for check out. No, I do not volunteer unless needed.

My hobbies go along with my intertest. I like to play video games, draw, color, paint, and online shopping when I can lol! I love being around my son! I started not being a family person until my son entered into the world. I like to dance, sing, and of course eat. I am a home body and only go out of the house when its needed. As I said before my all-time favorite interest is the Japanese culture. I love watching all types of anime, scary movies, comedy movies, and cartoon/Disney new/old movies. I have my own business where I let my creativity do the talking! I design logos, designs for clothing, flyers, poster, keychain etc. I want to learn how to do custom shoes! That will be my upcoming project to start and get good at!